Welcome to Your Gratitude Practice

Gratitude is more than saying "thank you." It is a daily practice of noticing the good in your life — the big moments and the small ones. Research shows that people who regularly write down what they are grateful for report higher levels of happiness, better sleep, and stronger relationships.

This journal is designed to make gratitude a simple, meaningful part of your everyday routine. You do not need to write a lot. Just a few minutes a day is enough to shift your perspective.

The Daily Practice

Each day, you will find space to write three things you are grateful for. They can be as simple as a warm cup of coffee or as meaningful as a conversation with a loved one. There are no wrong answers.

You will also find a daily highlight section for capturing one special moment, and a reflection space for deeper thoughts. End each day by rating your overall mood.

Weekly and Monthly Reviews

Every seven days, take a few extra minutes for a weekly review — look back on themes, big moments, and lessons learned. At the end of each month, you will find a monthly reflection page to zoom out and see the bigger picture of your growth.

 Build Your Gratitude Habit

Consistency matters more than perfection. Use the tracker below to build your daily gratitude practice. Check off each day you complete a habit. Do not worry about perfect streaks — just come back tomorrow.

| HABIT                    | M                     | T                     | W                     | T                     | F                     | S                     | S                     |

 Tips for Success

- Same time, same place. Morning or bedtime works best.
- Be specific. "My daughter's laugh" beats "my family."
- Feel it. Do not just list — take a moment to feel the gratitude.
- No judgment. If you miss a day, just start again.

MY INTENTION FOR NEXT WEEK

Enjoy the little things, for one day you may look back and realize they were the big things.
